

Master of Ceremonies: Dermot Flaherty

Part one

Meet the gang	Nick Lowe, Dave Plumb, Simon Beloe, Barry Miles, Chris Little, Ken Skene Produced by Nick Lowe. Piano: Cedric Lowe
'Joni Mitchell'	Lynda Parker
Commuter tap	Emily Goddard, Alice Miles, Lydia Skene, Abbie Butler Produced by Kim Skene
Two songs	Anna Plumb, Gill Sealey
'Elvis'	Dave Plumb
The Three flutes	Marion Ashe, Emily Goddard, Alice Miles
Barbershop quintet	Chris Little, Simon Beloe, Dermot Flaherty, Dave Plumb, Nick Lowe
Reduced Panto Company	Cyn Kimble
Rocky Horror Picture Show	Amy, Katie and Liam Spencer, Sarah-Jane Salmon, Georgina Stott, Naomi and Alex Wingate, Emily Goddard, Alice and Hannah Lowe, Jasmin Knox Langford. Produced by Jo Knox Langford & Cathy Wingate

INTERVAL: Licensed bar. Raffles—Friday: 'Children in Need', Saturday: 'African footprints' Please give generously.

Part two

Commercial break	Dave and Marg Plumb, Emily Goddard, Alice Miles, Lydia Skene, Abbie Butler, Ken Skene
'James Galway'	Chris Little
The Sound of Silence	Lynda Parker
The Green Eye of the Yellow God	Maggie Crawford-Dampier, Paul New
The Adelines	Anna Plumb, Gill Veck, Kim Skene, Donna Goddard, Mo Peters, Jo Knox Langford, Ken Skene, Chris Little
'Julian Bream'	Pete Eastland
'William McGonagall'	Chris Little
'Victoria Wood'	Eve Croucher
We are the gang	Everyone

'Stars in their eyes' is an ITV talent contest for budding Madonnas, Robbie Williams's, etc. None of the 'Stars in your eyes' are planning to give up their day job after the show, and you will not be asked to vote on their efforts—this is a village show, after all, and the spirit is more Victorian entertainment than showbiz! Our 'stars' are a more eclectic mix than the ITV show's, and in case their talents have passed you by, there's some background information below. There's plenty of other acts besides. Hope you enjoy the show—many thanks to those who coordinated items and helped backstage, especially Jo, Kim, Nick, Gill and Mo.
Chris Little

Joni Mitchell is a rock and folk singing icon. Her output of 21 albums over 30-plus years is widely regarded as one of the most significant and consistent collections of work by any artist of her generation. She's good as well.

Elvis Presley needs no introduction unless you've been living on Mars all your life. There are so many look-alikes you can't help bumping into him.

Sir James Galway used to be called the man with the golden flute until he earned enough money to buy a platinum one. He doesn't really need one, as he could make a tin whistle sound like nectar (the b....d).

Victoria Wood is one of the country's most talented comedians and entertainers. Did you see her one person show at the Mayflower?

William McGonagall, the great Scottish tragedian and poet, found his muse in June 1877. In his own words: "A flame, as Lord Byron has said, seemed to kindle up my entire frame, along with a strong desire to write poetry; and I felt so happy, so happy, that I was inclined to dance, then I began to pace backwards and forwards in the room, trying to shake off all thought of writing poetry; but the more I tried, the more strong the sensation became. It was so strong, I imagined that a pen was in my right hand, and a voice crying, 'Write, write!' The results were remarkable, I think you'll agree.

Julian Bream is the most influential guitarist and lutanist of his generation. Countless works have been dedicated to him. He and the great Spanish guitarist Segovia were largely responsible for popularising the classical guitar.

